THE COMMONWEALTH.

From the Paris Correspondent of the London Times.
The Nicaragua Ship Canal—Result of M. Bello's Operations in Central America—His Convention with Nicaragua and Costa Rica—A European Protectorate, &c.

I have just received from Nicaragua, under date of the 1st of May, the copy of a convention concluded and signed between the Governments of Costa Rica and Nicaragua on the one part and M. Felix Bello, acting on behalf of M. Millard & Co., of Paris, on the other, relative to the concession of an interoceanic canal by the river San Juan and Lake Nicaragua. The documents are as follows:

CONVENTION.

Article 1. The two Governments of Nicaragua and Costa Rica grant to M. Felix Bello and P. M. Millard an exclusive privilege for the execution and working of a maritime canal between the Atlantic and Pacific oceans, intersecting themselves from any anterior concession of canal in the territory of the two Republics pending the duration of the privilege as undermentioned.

Art. 2. The duration of the concession accorded to M. F. Bello and P. M. Millard will be for 99 years from the date of the opening of the canal.

Art. 3. The grantees will have the right to choose the line which their engineers may judge the most advantageous and most practicable, provided the said line ascends the river San Juan in all its length, crosses the Lake of Nicaragua, and issues on the Pacific between the two extreme points of Salinas and Realajo.

Art. 4. There is accorded to the grantees as their property, of which they may take possession as soon as the works are begun, a French league of land on each side of the line of the canal, to whichever of the two States the territory belongs, with the obligation to the grantees to make the survey, measurement, and limitation at their own expense of double strip of four kilometres in length.

Art. 5. All the mines of coal, gold, silver, and every other mineral, situated and discovered on the lands of company, will be granted to it by right, and on the condition specified in the laws relating to mines in the country.

Art. 6. Moreover, 8 per cent. of the gross revenue of the working will be applied in equal portions (4 per cent. for each), pending the continuance of the concession, to the Treasuries of the two Republics of Nicaragua and Costa Rica.

Art. 7. The two contracting States guarantee in common with the grantees, their agents, and their property, against every attack, whether external, under the penalty of the damages, to be fixed by arbitration, and to be paid out of the 8 per cent. applicable to the Treasuries.

Art. 8. The two ports which will form the two heads of the canal on the Pacific and Atlantic are from this day forward declared free ports, and they will enjoy forever all the immunities meant by that title.

Art. 9. The contracting parties declare formally that the canal shall be opened on the same title to all flags, and that a uniform tax, the most moderate possible, shall be imposed equally on all merchandise, from whatever part it proceeds. This tax is now fixed at 10 per cent. per maritime ton (1000 kilograms) and at 60 francs for each person. The company can never increase it, but it reserves to itself to reduce it at a later period, if the interests of the trade of the world be not opposed to its own interests.

Art. 10. A special measure, relative to ships belonging to the company having obtained the grant, whatever be their flag, will during 10 years enjoy a free passage, provided they do not carry any merchandise for exportation.

Art. 11. No tax can be imposed, under any pretext whatever, for 20 years on the lands, buildings, private agricultural produce, or on any of the material of the company.

Art. 12. In order to meet all the requirements of its intended purpose, the canal shall be constructed of such dimensions that it will be accessible to the largest ships, and its width permit those ships to pass each other without collision.

Art. 13. From the date of the signature of the present instrument a period of two years is accorded to the company to commence its work, and six years for their complete execution, unless uncontrollable events occur. These periods, moreover, may be at any time extended.

Art. 14. As it is just that the two Governments of Nicaragua and Costa Rica, should be represented in the Board of Directors of the company, the Ministers of these two States accredited in Paris shall be by right members of this Council, and enjoy all the advantages attached to that position, with the exception that they can have but one vote.

Art. 15. From the date of the payment of the first half-yearly instalment of the portion of the profits reserved for the two States of Nicaragua and Costa Rica all monopolies serving to constitute financial resources shall cease in these two States, and none can hereafter be established, either on the produce of the country or on any branch of commerce or manufactures, war stores excepted.

Art. 16. For the entire duration of the concession of the canal the customs, duties at the entry and outlet cannot exceed 3 per cent. on the value of the merchandise.

Art. 17. The contractors engage reciprocally to immediately take the necessary steps with the Government of France, Great Britain, and the United States, that the neutrality of the canal shall be guaranteed by those three powers, on the basis established in the Clayton-Bulwer treaty.

Art. 18. As soon as the neutrality of the canal shall be solemnly guaranteed by an act emanating from one of the two States of Nicaragua, Great Britain, or the United States, the entrance may be permitted to ships of war by an unanimous declaration of these three powers, provided the Governments of Nicaragua and Costa Rica put no opposition to it, and saving a previous regulation with the company enjoying the concession.

Art. 19. As an exceptional measure, and in order to protect the interests and responsibility of a company whose direction is entirely French, the French Government will have a right to keep two ships of war stationed in the waters of the canal or in the Lake of Nicaragua for the entire duration of the works.

Made at Paris, in triplicate, the 1st May, 1858—the anniversary of Walker's capitulation.

Signed and sealed with the seal of the two Governments in the house which was the headquarters of the National Army.

DECLARATION AGAINST THE UNITED STATES AND IN FAVOR OF A EUROPEAN PROTECTORATE.

The following is appended:

The supreme chiefs of the two Republics of Nicaragua and Costa Rica assembled at Paris, after having settled the questions which divided the two Republics, and having re-established peace and the most complete harmony between them, with a common accord, and in order to secure the independence and safety of the two countries, as well as of all the States of Central America;

Considering that a fresh invasion of American filibusters still threatens the independence of Costa Rica and Nicaragua, in contempt of all the laws that protect nations and guarantee the lives and property of citizens in civilized countries;

That this invasion, officially repudiated by the Government of the United States, is preparing in reality under its patronage, as the means of definitely taking possession of Central America; if Central America refuse to surrender itself voluntarily to the United States;

That hitherto all the official agents of the United States at Nicaragua have been the accomplices and auxiliaries of the invaders, acting as masters, and audaciously hoisting the flag of the United States in all parts where, as in San Juan del Sud, the flag of Nicaragua only ought to float, and openly menaced Central America with an inevitable annexation;

That the Minister actually accredited to Nicaragua boasts in public of peremptorily proposing this ultimatum—either the legal possession of Nicaragua by the ratification of the treaty Cass-Yriarri, or a fresh invasion of the filibusters already organized at Mobile under the American flag;

That, moreover, the Government of the United States has, according to official reports made to that of Costa Rica by its Minister Plenipotentiary at Washington, declared that it is utterly powerless to prevent fresh attempts by the filibusters, or to protect the neutrality of Central America, owing to the insufficiency of the laws of the United States on this head;

Considering that three years of war and devastation have deprived the two Republics of the means of resisting a fresh attack on the part of many thousands of brigands; that the towns of Nicaragua are destroyed in whole or in part; that their commerce is annihilated, their population decimated; and that after a desperate resistance, which testifies their patriotism, they must succumb before a superiority of numbers, unless Europe designs at last to defend them against attempts unprecedented in the nineteenth century;

They declare solemnly:

1. That they place the Convention above mentioned, relative to the canal of Nicaragua, under the patronage of civilized Europe, by appealing to the justice and humanity of all Christian nations against the attacks of pirates and buccanniers, of whom they have been for three years the victims.

2. That they place the independence and nationality of the Republics of Nicaragua and Costa Rica under the guarantee of the three Powers who have caused the independence and nationality of the Ottoman Empire to be respected, namely, France, England and Sardinia.

3. That they supplicate the Governments of these three Powers not any longer to leave the coasts of Central America without defense, its rich country at the mercy of barbarians, and the future route of the trade of the world without a serious guarantee of liberty and neutrality.

4. That they bind themselves in the name of their people to the three Powers, to maintain all the conditions they may attach to their assistance, provided the public law of civilized Europe be extended to all the States of America, and imposed by force, if needs be, on those who so audaciously violate it.

In faith whereof they sign the present declaration.

TOMAS MARTINEZ.
JUAN RAFAEL MORA.

[From the City Article of the London Times.]

The statement from Paris to day, that a concession for the canal to unite the Atlantic and Pacific through the territories of Nicaragua and Costa Rica has been granted to a French company, is surprising only from the fact of its not having become known in New York, where the influence over Nicaragua is paramount, and where there are persons who still claim rights to the route, which, whatever be their validity, are likely to be supported for political purposes.

The whole affair, however, is without practical importance, since the conditions are never likely to be fulfilled. The Company are to commence the work in two years and complete it in six, and the canal is such as to permit two of the largest ships to pass abreast. The direction, moreover, is to be entirely French, and the French Government is to have the exclusive privilege of keeping a couple of ships of war on the waters of the route throughout the whole period occupied in its construction. A capital of £10,000,000 or £15,000,000 would not suffice, and the public can easily judge the prospect of any such amount being raised within the next twenty-four months on the Paris Bourse. The schemes originally proposed in London, and most unfortunately rejected, was for a canal of much more moderate dimensions, or even, in the first instance, for an ordinary transit by improving the navigation of the San Juan and crossing the eleven miles of hilly land between Lake Nicaragua and the sea by a railway or other temporary means, until the success of the enterprise should have encouraged further expenditures.

THE RACE COURSE ENTERPRISE.—A number of gentlemen from the interior of the State, interested in stock-raising have arrived in our city to consummate the race course enterprise, to which we have frequently alluded. Among those who are here are Jas. K. Duke, A. Keene Richards, M. H. Keene, and James R. Ward, Esq., of Scott county, Capt. A. Wood, and R. A. Alexander, Esq., of Woodford, F. G. Murphy, Esq., of Nelson, and Col. J. F. Viley, of Fayette. These comprise the most noted horse raisers in Kentucky and the association of their names with the proposed enterprise is of itself a sufficient guaranty of the character of the organization. We understand that they will remain at the Galt House during to-day and tomorrow with a view to consult with such of our citizens as are interested in the establishment here of the proposed race course, and to probably to perfect the arrangements for the organization of the association.

We have already mentioned the numerous advantages to be derived by Louisville from the establishment of such a race course as is proposed, under such auspices and ownership and management as will warrant not only its entire respectability, but its complete success.

The present is the opportunity for us to secure these advantages. We are informed that citizens of Cincinnati have offered a subscription of twenty-five thousand dollars toward the erection of the proposed course, on condition that it shall be located near Covington, Kentucky. Our citizens will surely not delay in securing its location here by a liberal subscription. Whatever they intend to do in the matter should be done at once, and no occasion can be more appropriate for their action than while so many of the gentlemen from the interior, who manifest a zealous interest in undertaking, are present. The portion of the subscription apportioned to Louisville may as well be taken in twenty-four hours as in twenty-four weeks, and the organization of the association immediately perfected, so that the course may be inaugurated during the next autumn. Aside from all the advantages that will accrue to the city generally and particularly to the business community from the establishment of the course at this point, the investment itself will be a profitable one, as 6 per cent per annum upon the stock is to be guaranteed.

Col. Young, of Nashville, the editor of the Spirit of the South, is also present, and we are told represents that the establishment of the race course here meets the approbation of the horse raisers of Tennessee, and are here reason to believe that those interested in the project of the breed of horses throughout the Union are generally in favor of the project. If the movement is energetically prosecuted to day, its success will be insured, and we shall have a national race course which will attract to it the finest horses in the world, and will be conducted in a manner altogether unexceptionable.—Lou. Journal.

Gen. Lee one day found Dr. Cutting, the army surgeon, who was a handsome and dandy man, arranging his cravat complacently before a glass. "Cutting," said he, "you must be the happiest man in creation." "Why, General?" "Why," replied Lee, "because you are in love with yourself, and have no rival on the earth."

John Mitchell and Disunion.
We see it stated that the Irish refugee, the notorious JOHN MITCHELL, who is not a citizen of this country, and assumes to exercise a directory influence over its Irish inhabitants who will still maintain their separate and national distinctness of character and association, has undertaken to preach disunion, and treasonable and seditious notions respecting the value and permanency of the American confederacy. He adopts the hasty views of a few of the ultra disunion partisans of the South, and the distracted and turbulent abolitionists of the North, and says that he begins to believe that "the Union is really and actually dissolved;" that it "holds together not by cohesion, but by inertia;" because the shock has not yet come sufficiently violent to shake the sections asunder. Let us have a car load in harboring and giving hospitable shelter to this virulent and traitorous fugitive we nurture a viper that will treacherously sting the generous hand that succors and protects it.

His business was to preach sedition and conspiracy at home, until the government against which he belatedly took his stand, and which he would have treacherously betrayed, had he not been so much in the hands of his own passions, and he would have administered in the land that offered him asylum and a home. He would abuse our confidence by becoming a firebrand of mischief, and teaching his fellow-countrymen who depend upon him for their instruction, to undervalue and condemn, and ridicule and deride, the grand Union of the American States. He is the Apostle of anarchy and discord; and should be watched as a reckless and dangerous ally of the few perturbed spirits that appear occasionally amongst our own people to startle us for a moment with their wild and incoherent fanaticism, but of whom there is less to apprehend; as their noisy ebullitions have no influence with the staid, staunch Union loving masses of the American people, who know how to value their hysterical paroxysms, and have no fear of the contagion spreading.

But this man diffuses his treasonable sentiments amongst those who can have no other attachment to the country or its institutions. Who have no reasons of birth or patriotism to regard with love and attachment the federal Union of these States. Who are aliens to the land, and have but a slight knowledge of our political organization, and little sympathy for the unity and perpetuity of our national existence.

It is to such people that this Mitchell preaches his belief of its weakness and worthlessness as the basis of the American Union. This is the influence he seeks to exert upon the minds of his countrymen, who have scarcely begun to understand the most apparent and external difference between their own government and the one they are thus early taught to disparage and condemn. Let us be awake in time to the exceeding impudence and danger of this man's insidious and demagogical influence. It is not difficult to counteract, when by an open and honest native ally, that he sows this seed of disaffection and disunion in the minds of those who are so surrounded by prejudice and ignorance, credulity and formalism—who are so hemmed in by conscience-keepers and opinion makers—that it is difficult to correct impressions thus authoritatively inculcated and perseveringly promulgated. Still it behoves the American people to do promptly and earnestly what little may be in their power, to resist the effect of such false and pernicious notions as those promulgated by Mitchell, and those who may co-operate in his treasonable schemes.

Can it be, by the way, that the following epigram, from the May number of the Atlantic Magazine, addressed to "J. M." was intended to apply to this insidious preacher of disunion?

Said Fortune to a common spite,
"Your rust and grease I'll rid ye on,
For Ireland's sake, and for the sake of
For Ireland's sake, and for the sake of
In vain—what nature meant for base,
All change for good refuse;
N. gave one gleam, then turned away
To dirtiest kitchen uses!"

TWO PICTURES—SELF DRAWN.—On the 19th of December, 1857, a mass meeting of the Democracy of Chicago, was held at Light Guard Hall, and after addresses were delivered by Thomas Hoyle, Esq., and Dr. Brainard—addresses which, because of the strong language in which Leopold was denounced, were thought to be unwelcome to the committee on Resolutions was appointed to examine the sentiments of the meeting. That committee consisted of Thos. Hoyle, Isaac Cook, Iram Nye, and six others. The committee reported a series of resolutions, of which one was as follows:

Resolved, That we fully concur in the sentiments expressed by the Hon. Stephen A. Douglas upon this subject, in his late speech in the United States Senate (speech of December 9th); that they are in entire accordance with the frequently avowed and solemnly declared principles of the Democratic party of the Union, and that we will at all times, and under all circumstances, maintain and defend them.

On the 9th of June, 1858, a convocation of office holders and office seekers was held at Springfield, and in that convocation were the three gentlemen whom we have named as part of the committee of the December meeting.—These three gentlemen at Springfield voted for, and endorsed the following resolution:

8. That we cannot but regret the ruinous course taken by the only Senator in Congress from the State of Illinois who claims to be a Democrat, and decidedly condemn the overweening conceit with which in his speech of December 9th, 1857, he attempts to account for what he chose to consider the President's ignorance of the true principles upon which the contest of 1856 was decided, and we no less earnestly condemn the suspicious alacrity with which the same Senator sought, by vehement and arrogant denunciations, to ingratiate himself into the good opinion of the enemies of the Democratic party in the North.

Now these gentlemen pledged themselves in December to maintain and defend the principles of Douglas's 9th of December speech, "at all times and under all circumstances," and now they assail the same speech as an exhibition of "overweening conceit." It is of such reliable stuff as these men, that Glancy Jones expects to make a party in Illinois!—Chicago Times.

MURDER IN TERKALOSA.—There was a difficulty and affray among the students of the University of Alabama on Friday morning last which resulted in the death of E. L. Nubers, of Pickens county, by a pistol shot discharged by D. A. Herring, of Franklin county, Miss.

It appears from the history of the affair, as related to us, that some of the students were speaking of the reputation, by Mississippi, of her State debt, when Herring took it upon himself to defend the dignity of his State. This finally resulted in a quarrel between him and W. M. Gilkey, of Pickens. On the morning of Monday, Herring and Gilkey went out to settle the difficulty. Herring backed himself up near a fence armed with a stick. Gilkey advanced on and struck him, whereupon Herring drew a pistol, which caused Gilkey to fall back on the crowd of students. The deceased, Nubers, seeing the pistol pointed at his friend Gilkey, rushed up and struck Herring, in order either to divert him from his aim or knock the pistol from his hand. Herring immediately turned on him, firing the pistol in close proximity to his person, and shot him through the heart, from which he died in less than two minutes. Herring fled for refuge from the students and reached a place of safety. He was afterwards arrested and brought to trial before Justice Skinner and Whitefield, W. R. Smith prosecuting, and Judge Peck, Brown, and Fitz defending. The trial resulted in his acquittal. This so enraged the students that he had to escape to escape their vengeance.

Some twenty-five or thirty of the students have left through dissatisfaction at the result of the trial.—Evansville Whig.

17 The St. Joseph Journal of Monday last gives an account of a most extraordinary trip across the plains by Mr. Bromley, the conductor of the mail line. We give an account of it in the words of the Journal:

LATER STILL FROM UTAH—Only Sixteen Days Out—News from Camp Scott to the 29th of May—The Salt Lake mail arrived in this city yesterday about noon. We are indebted to the conductor, Mr. James E. Bromley, for the following particulars:

The mail left Camp Scott on the 29th of May. Gov. Cumming had been escorted back to Gen. Johnston's command. He was at Camp Scott at the time the mail left. The Mormons were moving their women and children out of the city to Pravo, about 45 miles south, in the valley. The Mormons said they would surrender to the civil officers, but the troops should not enter. Seventy families of Mormons had arrived at Camp Scott, asking protection. Gen. Johnston received them kindly and promised them an escort into the States. General Johnston's command had only two days' rations in camp when the mail left. The men had been living on eight ounces of flour and one half pound of beef per day for two weeks past. They had suffered greatly through the winter both for food and raiment. Gen. Johnston intended entering Salt Lake City as soon as Col. Hoffman arrived, leaving enough men to garrison Fort Bridger. Coming in, the party met Capt. Haws, of the 2nd dragoons, with 350 head of beef cattle, at Ham's Fork, only fifteen miles this side of Camp Scott. Met Lieut. Smith, 2d dragoons, on Green river fifty miles this side, traveling at the rate of forty-eight miles per day; and seventy-five miles further on, and at the east crossing of Big Sandy, met Col. Hoffman's command with full supplies; met Col. Andrews, of the 6th infantry, at the crossing of South Platte; Col. Sumner, of the 1st cavalry, at Oak Grove, on the Little Blue; Col. May, at Big Blue, and the last troops, 3d dragoons, at Nemaha.

Mr. Bromley, the conductor, reports the road in an awful condition. Several of the streams were scarcely fordable. Grass good. A passenger came in from Fort Laramie. The only Indians heard of on the route was a war party of 45 Arapahoes, on the Little Blue. The mail party passed there in the night and consequently did not see the Indians. Mr. Bromley reports that he was in the night, 200 miles this side of Camp Scott. He went on to Camp Scott, remained the whole of one day, and then returned, arriving only one day behind Col. Kane, notwithstanding he had to lay by a day and traveled 520 miles further. Mr. Bromley, coming in, some days traveled as far as 55 miles, and averaged over 65 miles the whole trip. Having come through Fort Bridger to this city in precisely 16 days, which is the quickest trip on record, he is justly entitled to the reputation of being the Aubrey of the present day.

Pravo is one of the strongest of the Mormon settlements, about forty miles from Salt Lake City.

HON. J. J. CRITTENDEN.—Before this article appears the distinguished statesman whose name is at its head will have reached his home in this city. He will have returned to a home where all have learned to love him for his many private and personal virtues, where even those who differ from him in politics have long admired him as a man of genius and esteemed him as a fellow-citizen. He will have returned with fresh laurels entwined around his brow, laurels more glorious than he had ever before won—laurels which not only attach honor to his own name, but which throw additional lustre over the fame of the State and the people who sent him to the national councils. He will have returned with the applause of a nation following his footsteps for his lofty contempt of sectional prejudices, and he will have been greeted by the people of his loved native State with expressions of renewed confidence and the warmest welcome. But the anthems which everywhere arise in praise of his patriotic efforts to give peace to the distracted country, to allay sectional agitation, and to bind the States together in bonds of love, will not be nearly so gratifying to his patriotic heart as the consciousness of having deserved them by his endeavors to do his whole duty to his country.

It will hardly be appropriate to attempt to give a sketch of Mr. Crittenden's political career to Kentuckians, among whom he was born, and before whom he has been a prominent actor for more than forty years. There has been no honor in the gift of the people of Kentucky which they have not delighted in bestowing upon him. He has been repeatedly elected to fill important places both in our State and national councils, from a seat in the lower branch of our State Legislature to a desk in the Senate chamber of the United States. He has been once Governor of Kentucky, and twice a member of the national Cabinet. He was placed in the Senate chamber at an age when ordinary men are just beginning to win a reputation among their fellow-mortals; but he trod the giddy height upon which he stood with an undazzled eye and an elastic limb. But his has not been a meteor-like reputation, he is no illustration of the class of men who have lived too long; the sun which dawned so beautifully is now, when he has passed the age usually allotted to man, more gloriously brilliant than ever, and the promise of his youth has been more than verified by the actions of his mature manhood. While corruption has stalked like a fell demon throughout the land, while it has been seen in high places and low places, staining the ermine of the judiciary, and insidiously gliding itself into executive mansions, there has never been a single imputation uttered against the personal or political honor of Mr. Crittenden. The breath of calumny has never been cast upon his garments and none have dared for a moment to insinuate that pecuniary reward or lust of office could for a moment tempt him from the straight path of duty. While Congressional bullies and ruffians, urged on by executive influence, have, when worsted in argument, resorted to the foulest abuse and personal malignity towards other men, none have ever ventured to impugn the integrity of his motives.

Throughout his political career Mr. Crittenden's course has been characterized by conservatism. He promptly took sides with Clay and Jackson against the South Carolina Nullification movement. As a member of Mr. Fillmore's Cabinet he used all his influence to promote the passage of the Compromise acts of 1850, by which peace was restored to the country. He was born in a State which may justly be called the Keystone of the Federal arch, and his entire course has been such as becomes a Kentuckian. He has never gone to extremes upon any subject, with any party or section. He has been foremost in denouncing the incendiary spirit of Northern fanatics, but Southern fire-eaters and secessionists have also met with their share of reproach and merited rebuke. Ever ready to resist the encroachments of Abolitionism, he would fight with equal vigor against the Southern madman who would apply the torch to the Union. One of the firmest of Mr. Fillmore's supporters in his efforts to enforce the fugitive slave law in Massachusetts, he was also one of the first in deprecating the renewal of the agitation which the Compromise acts of 1850 had seemingly forever quieted. A Kentuckian and, like the people whom he represents, in favor of fair play, he was the first to cry shame when Brooks struck down the unarmed and unguarded Sumner in the Senate chamber. Belonging neither to the North or South, but to the heart of the Union, his whole heart beats for the Union. He regards the enemy of the North as the enemy of his country, and he would ward off with his own corpse the blows aimed at the South. Mr. Crittenden has been consistent in his course, which has been dictated by the love of the Union alone. When two Senators, one from the North and the other from the South, declared that the day for compromise had passed, Mr. Crittenden vehemently proclaimed that he was in favor of compromise even to the last syllable of time;—not a compromise of principle or honor, but for each section to be patient with the faults, to recognize the virtues, and listen to the claims of the other. And, recently, when the Democratic party, under the dictation of a President elected by a minority of the people, violating the pledges given in their platform and in every conceivable manner by the President and his minions, attempted to force upon the people of Kansas a Constitution that they abhorred, not only on account of its provisions but because of the frauds perpetrated by the men who adopted it, and concerning which they had never been consulted;—and when the Republican party loudly advocated the rejection of the Constitution because it recognized the institution of slavery;—when this was the condition of affairs, and when both parties made threats of disunion unless their demands were complied with, Mr. Crittenden, belonging neither to the one nor the other, but to a party which has invariably rebuked the folly of both, promptly stepped forward and presented as a compromise and peace offering a substitute which proposed to obtain the fairly expressed will of the people of Kansas upon the Constitution in question, and to admit Kansas as a free or a slave State as her people might determine; and by his exertions he persuaded the Republican party to desert the dangerous ground which they had heretofore occupied, and to adopt the sound and conservative doctrine that the people of the States, unembarrassed by fraud or violence, shall determine what their own institutions shall be. Such was the construction given to, and such would have been the practical effect of the Crittenden substitute. It would have done equal and impartial justice to the people of both North and South, and to the people of distracted Kansas; it would have quieted agitation and proved a healing balm to the country; and, more than all, it would have placed the South upon the rock of justice and truth, from which all the storms of fanaticism and demagoguery could not have shaken her.

Such is the spirit of compromise of which Mr. Crittenden has ever been an advocate, and such is the man whom Kentuckians now honor. The moment he placed his foot on the soil of his native State he was greeted by crowds of his fellow-citizens with words of approbation and welcome upon their lips. He has come back to a State whose people regard him with increased confidence and love. He has come back from scenes in which he bore a hero's and a patriot's part. And he has come back to be among friends who know how to appreciate his motives, and to give expression to the veneration with which they now, more than ever, regard him. His name will be handed down to the future as the statesman who, in an age of politicians, dared to strike for the right, regardless of self or the clamor which might be raised against him. Blessed be the peace-maker.

Another Case.
The Democracy begin to wince under the exposure which George R. McKee is making of the various out of the way letterings of the Democracy of the last Legislature. Somebody wrote to the Louisville Courier denying that the Clerks of the last House of Representatives were at all to blame for the fact that there is an act upon the statute book which was never passed by the Legislature, and laying all the blame upon the Clerks of the Senate. The case which this writer chooses to individualize from among the acts of delinquency is the bill for the benefit of the fine arts. It is well known here that this bill was enrolled by an employee of the Clerks of the House, and was signed by the Speaker of that body before it was brought up for action by the House. But as Democratic correspondents and editors choose to squabble over the matter we will pass it by, and give them another case which we have had in soak.

The House of Representatives passed a bill for the benefit of a Mr. L. Hoagland, of Bullitt county. The bill was then carried to the Senate and was rejected by that body. It was then returned to the House by the Clerk of the Senate, with notice that it had failed in the Senate, and was marked "disagreed to in Senate" on the back. Notwithstanding this, however, the bill was enrolled, was signed by the Speaker of the House, was sent by him to the Speaker of the Senate, who also signed it and sent it to the Governor for his approval; and the bill is now recorded as one of the acts of the last Legislature. Now we will not say that this bill was enrolled by the Clerks of the House, because we do not know their handwriting and we might be severely taken to task and taxed with falsehood by some editor or other. But we do say that it was their business to see that the bill was not enrolled and sent to the Speaker, and that they are responsible for the error. We say, farther, that it was enrolled by them or by their employees, and that they are responsible for the mistakes or carelessness of those to whom they entrust their business.

But it is very likely the entire blame for the transaction will be cast upon Sam. Sayre, because he permitted the Democratic Clerks or their employees to commit a grievous blunder, albeit he had nothing to do with and no supervision over this portion of the labors of the Clerks. Or, if it can't be shifted upon Sam's shoulders, why, we suppose, Mr. Lewis or Col. Hodges will have to bear it, because they chaptered and printed the bills just as they received them from the Clerks. It is quite probable that some editor or other will say, that Mr. Lewis was empowered to set aside the signatures of the Speakers of the two Houses and the approval of the Governor, and to refuse to chapter bills which were irregularly passed. But other persons will think that it was his business to chapter the bills which were given to him, and that it is for the judiciary to decide whether or not they are laws. The way some editors have of escaping responsibility on this subject must appear to every one with his eyes open to be merely a Yankee trick.

The Committee for the reception of Mr. Crittenden went to Lexington on Monday evening, having made arrangements for receiving him in Frankfort on his arrival on the 4 o'clock train. But he was so much wearied that he came to this city on the morning train, yesterday, and the demonstration was delayed until after supper.

A Washington dispatch to the Tribune states that circulars have been issued from that city, and distributed over the Union, urging Mr. Crittenden as the candidate for the Presidency irrespective of party or platform, and on the ground of his personal popularity with all the elements of the Opposition, and his acceptability to the Democracy.

From the Richmond Whig.
Mr. James B. Clay.
This poor man is making himself vastly ridiculous. He appears to have the respect of nobody, not even of the Loco-focos, who use him for their own purpose. A correspondent of a Philadelphia paper has the following concerning him:
"Mr. James B. Clay is very touchy and tenacious of his dignity, as though it were something of a superior order, and to be respected above that of his fellows. A day or two ago he was asked to be excused from further service on the House committee on foreign affairs, because, forsooth, the House had allowed another member to introduce a resolution on a subject which the gentleman had appropriated to himself, and on the management of which he had hoped to make capital for his next Congressional canvass."
"Much to his surprise and evident mortification the House acceded to his request, being probably of the opinion that the business of the nation would not suffer irretrievably if the committee in question was deprived of its eminent services. Only the next day, one of his friends moved a reconsideration of the vote whereby he was excused, his own suggestion, he having so soon repented of his hasty act, on finding that it would spite no one but himself. How an honest heart aches in contemplating the contrast between sire and son!"

We call particular attention to the following card from the senior class at the Military Institute. We have seen the pictures referred to, and can testify to their accuracy. They are gotten up in fine style, exhibiting very superior ability in the art. We would recommend those of our readers who wish a fine likeness to call on Mr. Griswold at once, as he leaves in a few days:

M. M. Griswold, Esq., of Columbus, Ohio:
Feeling truly grateful for the complete satisfaction given us, by Mr. Griswold, the skillful Columbus artist, whose name reached us long before we had the pleasure of his acquaintance, we tender him our most heartfelt thanks, and wish him that success and fame in his beautiful art, which his punctuality and artistic genius so highly merits.
It is indeed seldom that we see the genuine character of a gentleman so happily united with the perfect profession as is clearly exemplified in the gifted Mr. Griswold, and we feel powerless to express the pure pleasure, of having one whom all must esteem, to represent so life like the features of our loved classmates, who leave the walls of Old Alma Mater to face the storms and hurricanes upon the troubled sea of life. Wherever we roam and whatever be our destiny, the familiar faces of our classmates will be before us, while we will ever remember with grateful emotion, the scholar, the gentleman and the artist—Mr. Griswold.

Committee from Senior Class.

MR. CHANDLER'S APPOINTMENT.—We find in the Washington correspondence of the New York Times, the following lucid and interesting explanation concerning the appointment of Hon. Jos. R. Chandler, as Minister at Naples:

"I cannot join in the eulogies passed upon Mr. Chandler as a politician, which, by appointment has elicited. He is for six years a Whig member of Congress. In 1854 he was dropped by the party in Philadelphia, and ran as an independent candidate, with the apparent purpose of causing the election of a Democrat. In this he failed. He remained ostensibly a Whig, however, until March, 1855. In the following year it began to be rumored that he was leaning towards Mr. Buchanan. He is a very zealous member of the Roman Catholic Church, and it is alleged, upon what authority or evidence I have never seen stated, that he played a very important, though select, part in that campaign, by securing for Mr. Buchanan the native and foreign Catholic votes. For this service it is presumed, he is now rewarded by a mission peculiarly grateful to his feelings. Considering that the Democracy, when he secretly joined it, was in a more flagrant violation of old Whig principles than it had ever been before, his conversion is open to severe criticism, and may be referred to the loss of his seat in Congress. It has been suggested that his reputation as an 'Old Whig' commended him to Mr. Buchanan's favor. This is not probable, because one year ago, the chief of Pennsylvania old Whigism, Wm. B. Reed, gained a full mission on that ground alone. Mr. Chandler is elevated as a reward for his election services."

LARGE SHIPMENTS.—It is astonishing to see the large amount of McLean's STRENGTHENING CORDIAL that is shipped off daily to different parts of the country. It is scarcely three months since this article was first introduced, and now, judging from its rapid sale, it is known and appreciated all over the Western country.

Every druggist, dry goods or grocery merchant visiting our city should be sure to obtain a supply of this Cordial. It is just the thing required to strengthen and invigorate the weak and debilitated.—St. Louis Democrat.

We have received an account of the reception of Mr. Crittenden at Cincinnati and Covington, and will publish it in our next issue.

PACING RACE.—A pacing race came off Saturday, at the Oakland, near Louisville, between Richard Rousseau's white horse and Jos. Robb's pacer. Rousseau's pony came off triumphant in the two heats. Time—2:40, 2:45.

Mr. Daniel Heibler, of Paris, Ky., had his pocket picked of a pocket-book containing $630 in bills on Kentucky banks, principally in $100 notes, a note of hand for $5,012, and several smaller notes at a railroad depot in Baltimore on Friday.

We have been requested by Mr. PETER JETT to announce him a candidate for Assessor for the county of Franklin. March 17-te.

We are authorized to announce WILLIAM J. STEELE, Esq., as a candidate for the office of Presiding Judge of the Woodford County Court at the ensuing August election. [Jan. 20—td.]

From the many recommendations of this Work, we have only room for the following:
From Rev. Dr. Telfr, late President of Genesee College.

GENTLEMEN.—Having made a particular examination of Goodrich's "History of All Nations," I am free to say, that I know of no work, great or small, that contains half the amount of useful and entertaining matter for family reading. It is written in Mr. Goodrich's style. It is a library, a historical library of itself; and it is worth, according to the usual cost of good reading, two or three times the money you ask for it. It is no wonder that you have to keep a power press running constantly to supply the orders for these volumes; for the public have only to know their value to make them a universal want with all classes.

I am, gentlemen, most respectfully yours,
B. F. TEFIT.

Extract from a Letter from Ex-President Fillmore. I think it eminently deserving of the public patronage. It is necessarily brief, but it brings under review, with its admirable illustrations, the principal subjects worthy of attention in all nations, and to the young especially, it is invaluable.

I have been familiar with Mr. Goodrich's writings for many years, and have the pleasure of a personal acquaintance with him; and think him admirably qualified for imparting instruction in a way that brings it within the reach of the common mind.

MILLARD FILLMORE.

MOSELEY'S TUBULAR WROUGHT IRON

ARCH BRIDGES AND ROOFS.
THESE Bridges and Roofs have now been fully tested in this vicinity, and it is universally conceded that they cannot be excelled. The Roofs are wholly of Wrought Iron, or mixture of Wood and Iron. Sheeting always Iron.

The Bridges are wholly Wrought Iron except the floor, which is wood, like the floors of ordinary Bridges. We are prepared to make these structures in any quantities, at prices about as follows:
Railroad Bridges, 50 feet span, 5,000 lbs., $17 50 per foot lineal.
Common Road or Turnpike, 30 feet span, 2,000 lbs., $7 50 per foot lineal.

Roofs, all iron, 50 feet width of building, $25 per 100 square feet, part wood and part iron, from $12 to $20 per square.

Increase of span of bridges or width of buildings makes an increase of price, but the increase in price is no more than the increase of wooden structures.

We can furnish iron of every size to work into Bridges and Roofs, and Railroads or other companies buying the right to use them and the iron of us, can make their own structures one third less than the above prices. Our structures weigh only from 1-4 to 1-10 that of wood; difference in freight in a long distance buys our work. In a few days we will have at a call, as all our work is warranted, we ask no pay on ordinary jobs until the work is done and approved, payments being secured on contracting. Office No. 66 West Third street, Cincinnati, O. MOSELEY & CO.

PROSPECTUS OF THE GLASGOW FREE PRESS.

GLASGOW, KY., December 23, 1857.

Dear Sir:—Having disposed of our printing office in Elizabeth, Ky., and removed to Glasgow, we have the pleasure to announce to you the publication of a newspaper commencing the month of February, to be entitled "THE GLASGOW FREE PRESS." It will be devoted to the interests of the people, and especially to the promotion and advancement of the local and general interests of the town and county, and those adjacent. No pains or exertion on our part will be intermitted to secure due consideration for all local enterprises, that may be calculated to advance the general welfare of the community.

An earnest effort will be made to render it a valuable family newspaper, acceptable to all parties, combining a variety of interesting and instructive subjects in its columns. Having had considerable experience in the business, and being practically familiar with its mechanical details, we indulge the hope that we shall be enabled to satisfy the interests of our subscribers, and to make the "FREE PRESS" well deservedly popular.

American Politics at the present time, may be said very justly to be a chaotic state. We do not design, in this Prospectus, to enter the domain of speculation. It is not necessary to the present purpose, or very briefly, we are conscientiously opposed to the practices and the precepts of Modern Democracy. We regard the Democratic party, as now constituted, especially an alien power, and its aims and purposes, as avowed by its organs, practiced by its leaders, and developed in the present administration, pregnant with evil to the Union, and disastrous to American Nationality. We recognize in the "Address of the American People," promulgated at the National Convention, a political platform, eminently national, eminently conservative, and peculiarly adapted to present exigencies. We believe that in the fundamental principles of that organ, may be found the means for many, if not all the political evils, which have disordered the country and fomented sectional strife, and which it is now in evident contemplation to aggravate by unwise and imprudent legislation.

Whilst we shall aim to be perfectly independent and honest in the expression of our views of public men and measures, we shall strive to obtain courtesy and a proper respect for the opinions of others, whose convictions may lead them to differ with us. It is the peculiarity and the boast of American institutions, that they secure each and every one the "free and untrammelled expression of his opinions." In no other government is this perfect freedom of opinion in the citizen, tolerated, or considered as a mark of the dignity of the State. Our whole system of government reposes upon this basis. Public opinion is here at once the source and the support of power. We cherish an appreciation of the great privilege, too exalted to induce us to refuse to others what we are prompt to claim for ourselves. Hence the columns of our paper will at all times be open to well written, courteous articles, even though they may conflict with our individual opinions.

We invoke, in aid of our enterprise, the support and patronage of the citizens of Barren and surrounding counties, and especially those whose opinions may harmonize with the general policy of the paper. We send you this circular, hoping that you may feel inclined to give us the benefit of your influence, in procuring a list of subscribers in your locality, by the 1st day of February, 1858.

OF THE

PUBLISHED IN LEBANON, KY.

Lebanon, since the completion of the Railroad, connecting it with Louisville, is a point of interest to a large section of country. There are hundreds of persons from all around who are in want of information upon various topics connected with it, such as the prices current, facilities for doing and having business done here, &c., and the citizens of Lebanon themselves, wish to inform the public at large, that it is one of the most enterprising and flourishing towns in the interior of the State, and that it offers great inducements as a place of residence to men of almost any trade, business and profession. To supply these wants, of people abroad and citizens at home, we have determined to publish "The Central Kentuckian," a paper devoted to the Commercial, Agricultural, Literary, and Moral welfare of the community in which it is circulated.

It is hoped that we shall be able, by attention to the interest of all concerned, to supply a desideratum long felt.

Citizens of Lebanon, and of Marion and surrounding sections, to you, of whatever political party or religious sect, we look for support—and the more liberal the larger and more entertaining will be our paper. For we are determined, if you will place in our hands the means, to make the Central Kentuckian worthy of your patronage.

To obtain this, however, we shall not sacrifice independence by pledging ourselves to any party or sect, and we shall promise you Neutrality in Writing. If we are not capable of choosing our subject matter, and commenting upon all or any topic of public interest, in a manner which shall be at once courteous and impartial, we ought not to come before you as Editors. To be faithful journalists of passing events—candid critics of public acts—and successful advocates of Truth, is the right of our obligation.

Terms:—$1 50 in advance; $2 00 in six months. No deduction made on clubs. Return the list of names as soon as possible, as we shall issue the first number on Wednesday, the 27th.
